Office of the Commander

Dear Incoming Soldier:

On behalf of the Brigade's Officers, Noncommissioned Officers, Soldiers, and Civilians, I welcome you to the 21st Cavalry Brigade (Air Combat), III Corps and Fort Hood. The 21st Cavalry Brigade is a very unique unit - the Army's only training brigade focused on aviation unit collective training. The 21st CAV receives, equips, fields, trains, and evaluates all modernized attack and cavalry aviation units (AC/RC) employing a standard model called the Unit Fielding and Training Program (UFTP). The 21st CAV is also responsible for the reception, forming, training, and deploying Task Force ODIN to Iraq and Afghanistan.

All initial inprocessing at Fort Hood will be conducted at the Copeland Soldier Service Center, Building 18010.

Once again, welcome to the 21st Cavalry Brigade. We look forward to your arrival. Additional information regarding Fort Hood, the surrounding communities, and the 21st Cavalry Brigade can be found on the Fort Hood Home Page on the internet at www.hood.army.mil and www.hood.army.mil/hoodgarrison/.

Sincerely,

Morgan M. Lamb
Colonel, US Army
